NEWSPAPER CLIPPING, Oct. 7, 1949.

Why Mrs. Sara Matilda O'Dowd Peyton and her six children left New Orleans in the Fall of 1863 and came to Cabell County I do not know. There is abundant evidence that she did, this including documents left by her grandson, Thomas Wrst Peyton IV. city attorney of Huntington, who died unexpectedly a short time ago. Among these documents is a pass through the Confederate lines, issued October 3, 1863. Another is a receipted bill, dated New Orleans October 12, 1863, for $25 for passage for Mrs.Peyton and six children on the steamer Atlantic. There is also a bill of lading for a river consignment sent by Mrs.Peyton to D.A.Wright, Guyandotte, Va. In understand this merchandise never reached its destination Mrs.Peyton, widow of T.W.Peyton II got to Cabell County safely and established a home at Barboursville. Her son, T.W.Peyton III graduated at 14 from Marshall College, and is said to have been the youngest boy ever to get a diploma from the school.

NEWSPAPER CLIPPING, 9/22/49.

Funeral services for Thomas West Peyton IV. 58, of the Emmons Apartments, a prominent member of the legal profession in the state, and Huntington's city attorney, have been arranged tentatively for 2 P.M. Thursday at Johnson Memorial Methodist church, prior to burial in Spring Hill cemetery. Mr. Peyton died in a Huntington Hospital shortly after 7 P.M. Yesterday after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage earlier in a Court Room of the Cabell County Court House. He was born in Huntington August 1, 1891, a son of the late Thomas W. and Mary T. Hovey Peyton. Mr. Peyton died less than two hours after he was stricken in Domestic Relations Court where he had been pleading a contested case before Judge J. Frank ~~xxx~~ Eaton. After a recess in the case had been granted, Mr. Peyton, Judge Eaton, and Maxwell W. Flesher, opposing attorney, were discussing a point of law, when the city attorney slumped in his chair.

Two physicians giving testimony in another court room were summoned, and after receiving assistance Mr. Peyton was taken to a hospital in an ambulance. Death occurred at 7:05 P.M. The attorney's widow, Mrs. Christine Dingess Peyton and his associate, William E. Parsons, were at the bedside.

Mr. Peyton, a descendant of a military line that dates back to the war of 1812 had been actively associated with an army career ~~xxx~~ since May, 1917, when he enlisted in the First Officer's Training Camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison. He received a commission as first lieutenant three months later. He later served as assistant to ~~the~~ the Adjutant at Camp Sherman, Ohio. and was sent overseas in August 1918, until the armistice was signed while he was at the front. A Lieutenant-Colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve Infantry, his father, grand-father, and great grand-father also held commissions in the army. The latter, Thomas West Peyton, served as a Captain in the war of 1812. Captain Thomas W. Peyton II, the grand father, was a Captain in the Confederate army, and his father, Captain Thomas W. Peyton III was a ranking officer in the West Virginia National Guard.

As a civilian, Mr. Peyton's law interests began at Morris-Harvey College, at Barboursville, which he attended for three years before transferring to West Virginia University for his senior year. He studied law in his father's law office and was admitted to the Cabell County bar on April 6, 1915.

The many outstanding posts he held included that of president of the Huntington Kiwanis club, 1931, president of the Cabell County Bar Association 1931. Had been president of the Huntington Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association and president of the West Virginia Department of the Reserve Officers Association. He had been in charge of the activities of the Huntington Army Advisory Board.

In the legal profession, Attorney Peyton became prominent as a lawyer in Court room activities in Cabell, as well as near by counties and the county seats of Putnam and Lincoln Counties, which are a part of the judicial circuit which includes Cabell.

On May 15, 1946, he was appointed a member of the judicial council of the State of West Virginia by Governor Clarence Meadows, a position he held at the time of his death.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Christine Dingess Peyton, three brothers, Colonel Albert H. Peyton, USA. (Infantry), retired, of PEYTON.

This is one of the oldest of the Norman Conquest families in England, the name being of the generation after the conquest, but the family tracing to Guillaume de Malet, Sien de Montfort, whose name appears fourth on the list of Battle Abbey. He was a second cousin of the Conqueror, being the son of Nicholas de Baskerville, whose wife was a niece of the Dutchess Gimora. William de Malet was granted forty estates, as appears in Domesday Book, and was made Governor of York, which he successfully defended during the first uprising against William. His second son, William, inherited Peyton Hall, in Suffolk, one of the confiscated estates, and, and as was the custom of the time, took the name of his estate, surnames as we know them, not having yet come into existence. The line as follows, is from Burke:

1. Sir William de Peyton,
2. Sir Reginald de Peyton,
3. Sir John de Peyton,
4. Sir Nigel de Peyton,
5. Sir John de Peyton,
6. Sir John de Peyton,
7. Sir John de Peyton, living in 1242; married Clemence.
8. Sir John de Peyton, crusader; married Mathilda de Beurris.
9. Sir John de Peyton, granted Stoke-Weyland and Boxford in 1298; M.P. in first Parliament, when two knights from each shire sat with the Lords, 1299-1300; died 1318.

10. Sir Robert de Peyton, called Chevalier; married Joan de Marny, of the noble family of Essex; died 1351.
11. Sir John de Peyton, married Margaret de Gemon, daughter and co-heiress of Sir John de Gemon dext^r C.K., Lees; Co. Essex; died 1394.
12. Sir John de Peyton, heir to Peyton Hall, but not to his mother's estate, as he pre-deceased her; married Joan, daughter and heiress of Sir Hammon Sutton, of Wixoe, Suffolk; died 1404.
13. Sir John de Peyton, born 1390; married in 1407 to Grace Burgoyne, of Drayton, Cambridge; died 1416.
14. Sir Thomas de Peyton, born 1416; died 1484; called "of Isleham", which estate he got from his first wife, Margaret Bernard; married, second, Margaret, daughter of, Sir Hugh Francis of Gifford Hall, Suffolk.
15. Francis Peyton, third child, son of the second wife; married Elizabeth, daughter of Reginald Brook, Esq.
16. Christopher Peyton, married Jane, daughter of Thomas Mallory.
17. Thomas Peyton, eldest son; married Lady Cecilia Bourcier, daughter of the Earl of Bath, and descended from Edward III. He was Customer of Plymouth and M.P. for Dunwich in 1557. His son, Sir Henry Peyton, knighted by Prince Henry, esdest son of James I in whose retinue he was, married Lady Mary, daughter of the Duke of Somerset and died childless "overseas" according to his "nephew and executor, Sir John Peyton, next of kin"; his will was probated Feb. 20, 1624. He was a member of the Virginia Company, but there is nothing to show he ever came to America. He belonged to the Merchant Taylors Guild, as did both Prince Henry and King James. His will leaves a sum of money to the children of his brother, Thomas, and makes him Executor, but Thomas died first, and Sir John, his son and heir, acted as Executor. Another brother, Robert's son was the first to come to America. The Wrstmoreland Company, branch of the family, bears arms granted to this Sir Henry when he was knighted, permission to bear the ancient arms with a "difference", to show cadency, being granted by Sir Edward Peyton, of Isleham, head of the elder branch. The "difference" consists of a "bordure erm", a band of heraldic ermine to show royal descent, and "is a mullet argent in the third quarter", a silver star to show descent from a third son, , that is from Francis (No. 15) third son of Sir Thomas.

18. Robert Peyton, son of Sir Thomas and Lady Cecelia Peyton.
19. John(i) Peyton married Ellen Packington (or Parking-ton, in England, and came to Virginia in 1622, ~~xxx~~ bringing his wife and two small sons, Henry and Valentine, with him. He was baptized at St. James Bury Apr. 11, 1596. He settled at Acquia on the Potomac, then in Westmoreland Co. where he had a large tract of land, and died early.

20. Henry 2 Peyton, of Acquia, married Ellen, and and also had sons, Henry and Valentine. He died in 1659

21. Henry 3 Peyton of Acquia, married Anne _____

In his time, Westmorland Co. was divided, and his estate was in the new county of Stafford.

22. Valentine 4 Peyton, born 1688 and died 1751. He married Frances, daughter of Col. Thomas Harrison, of Chappawamsic. Valentine was Justice of Prince William Co. in 1743; Sheriff in 1749; Burgess in 1736, '38 and '40; vestryman (there a civil office) of Overwharter Parish in 1749. In his time, Stafford was divided and Acquia was in the new County of Prince William. The dates of his birth and death are from a foot-note in the Colonial Dame edition of Washington's Diary.

23. Craven 5 Peyton, third child and second son, removed early to Loudonn Co., where his father owned large tracts of land, some time prior to 1760. His next younger brother, Col. Francis Peyton, of the Revolution, going with him. Craven Peyton was, from the first, a prominent citizen of Loudonn, and was probably a lawyer, as he was made Executor of many wills, recorded in Leesburg. He married before 1760, Anne, only daughter of William West, of Loudonn Co. as appears from William's will, made in 1769, in which he names four children of his daughter, Anne Peyton and makes "my son-in-law Craven Peyton", one of his executors. Craven Peyton's own will was made Oct. 13, 1780, and proved Sept. 10, 1781; it names his wife Anne, to whom he left the use of all his real estate, real and personal, during her widowhood; a son William; a daughter Margaret: a son, Francis, to whom he left 600 acres of land in Kentucky, near Boonsborough, a negro man, a feather-bed, bolster and Pillows, bed stead and cord, two cows, calves, six head of sheep & piggess and my surveyor's instruments"; a son, Craven; a son Valentine, and a daughter Anne who got land on the Big Canaway. His sons, Craven & Valentine, also got Kentucky land. His widow, his son William, and his brother Frances were made executors. From this, and other wills on file in Leesburg, it appears that Craven and Anne had married prior to 1760, William being of age in Sept. 1781, that in 1769 they had four living children; in 1775, five; and in 1781, six. In 1805 Thomas West Peyton, son of their son Francis, witnessed the will of Ann Peyton in Alexandria, probably his grandmother and Craven's widow. Craven was Justice of Loudoun County in 1770; vestryman of Shellbourne Parish 1771-1776; had five sons in the Revolution. His elder sister, Eleanor, was the wife of Col. Levin Powell, of the Revolution.

24. ~~Col. Francis West~~ Peyton, born as early as 1766, and possibly a little earlier; third child, married Sarah West more than probably his mother's cousin, daughter of John West, who had a daughter, Sarah, otherwise, unaccounted for. The family believe she was of French extraction, and John West's wife was a Colville. Sarah had heavy, black hair and dark eyes, was little and very lovely. Members of the family in California, have her picture. They had ten children. Col. Francis is frequently mentioned in the records of Alexandria, where he was living in 1789 and a prominent citizen. He was Justice in 1790; a merchant in the same year under the name of Francis Peyton & Co.; a patron of the library established not long after the Revolution, and long a Vestryman of Christ church. His home was at the head of King St. where the high school building now stands, but then on the edge of town. It was a handsome pillared house with one-story flanking wings and was called Peyton Grove. Mrs. Powell remembered it very well as it stood until the late 1880s. His wife's name first appears on a grantor deed in 1789, but he had then been some years married, as his son witnessed a will in 1805. He died in 1836, his wife surviving him. He owned 1800 acres of land in Fayette Co., Ky. in 1789, when he sold 600 acres of it. as the Fairfax County record shows. It is possible that he was the Francis Peyton of Prince William Co., appointed a paymaster of the militia, with the rank of Colonel; but this does not seem likely, as he was barely of age at the time, in the early months of the Revolution. At any rate, he is always Col. Francis Peyton on the Alexandria records, and there is no record of other military service.

25. Capt. Thomas West Peyton, of age in 1805, when he witnessed the Will of Ann Peyton, probably his grandmother, was undoubtedly named for his Great Uncle, Thomas West, who mentioned his nephew, Francis Peyton, in his Will and who was wounded in action and died Jan.13, 1777. Thomas West Peyton married Sophia Matilda Dundas, daughter of John and Agnes (Hepburn) Dundas in the old Presbyterian church in Alexandria in 1811. The city was then part of the District of Columbia, and he served in the District Militia, as a Captain in the War of 1812. He was Justice of Alexandria, in 1814, and one of the first vestry of St. Paul's in Jan. 1810. He died at sea in 1819, returning from Cuba, where he had been living for some months. The family believe he occupied some official position there, but the Government had no representative there then, nor for many years after. They had two daughters: Rose, who died in infancy; and Virginia, who married a Mr. Watson and lived in New Orleans and three sons: Dr. John, Craven, and Thomas West. His portrait was painted ~~xx~~ by St. Memin.
26. Capt. Thomas West Peyton, youngest child, was born in Cuba, in 1819. In 1860, he was living in New Orleans, where he held a responsible position in the Customs House; he twice offered his resignation there, but it was not accepted till August, 1861, when he was commissioned First Lieutenant in the Confederate Army. He was wounded, and his left arm amputated; but on his recovery went back into service, and was Commissioned Captain; again wounded and taken prisoner at Stoney River (Murfreesboro, Tenn.) Dec.31,1862, but died in Feb. 1863. On June 29, 1848, he was appointed by Gov. Isaac Johnson as Quartermaster of the 41st Militia, of Louisiana, and family tradition says that he served in "Polk's 50,000" in the Mexican war, but it is not of record. He married in New Orleans in 1850, Sarah O'Dowd, an Irish-born Roman Catholic girl, then only seventeen. They had six children, the youngest born on the day her father was captured.

27. Capt. Thomas West 9 Peyton, fifth child and only son, was born in 1860, in Barboursville, W.Va. (then Cabell Court House, Va.) where his parents had gone on a visit to his father's mother. After the civil war was over Mrs.Peyton returned to West Virginia, and the children were reared at Barboursville. Capt. Peyton was a lawyer of prominence and held various political offices. He married Mary Thornburg Hovey , daughter of Capt. William Marshall Hovey, of the Union army on Oct. 7, 1890, and they lived at Huntington, W.Va. 'till the death of his wife, in 1902, when he returned to Barboursville for a time. Later, they lived for a year in New Mexico, but finally returned to Huntington, where Capt.Peyton died in 1912.. He was long an Officer in the West Virginia National Guard.

5. Lady Isabelle de Vermandois, third daughter, married Robert de Beaumont, who fought at Hastings, and was made Earl of Leicester in 1103 and died 1118. Lady Isabelle was living in 1131.
6. Robert Bossu de Hellemont, second Earl of Leicester; Justiciar of England in 1167; died 1168; married Lady Amicia, daughter of Ralph de Waer, Earl of Norfolk, Suffolk, and Cambridge.
7. Robert Blanchemaine de Bellomont, Third Earl of Leicester, time of Henry II; Lord High Steward, of England; died 1196; married Lady Petronella, daughter of Hugh de Grantesmil, Lord of Hinckley and also Lord High Steward. Robert's daughter Annis married the first Simon de Montfort, Earl of Leicester, which he obtained by right of his wife.
8. Sir William de Hambleton, their son, born at the Manor of Hambleton, in Buckinghamshire. He was the founder of the famous house of Hamilton, in Scotland, his removal to that country probably due to the fact that he married Mary, ^{3rd} daughter of Gilbert

Earl of Strathram. (Spelling of this last questioned. Writing not legible.) (See 9. probably Strathearne).

9. Sir Gilbert de Hamilton married Lady Isabelle, daughter of Sir James Randolph, of Strathearne, and sister of Thomas, Earl of Mar and Governor of Scotland.

10. Sir William de Hamilton married Mary, daughter of Lord Gordon.

11. Sir David Hamilton, born 1375, married Lady Margaret Leslie, daughter of Walter, Earl of Roos. This marriage carries the line back to the de Warrens, Bruce of Armondale, the de Clares, William the Conqueror, the des Meshhines, the Grahams of Montrose, and practically every throne in Medieval Europe.

12. Sir David Hamilton, dead before 1392.

13. Sir John Hamilton married Lady Janet, daughter of Sir James Douglass of Dalkeith and Liddesdale, who died in 1420 and his wife, who was Agnes, daughter of the Earl of March.

14. Sir James Hamilton, who was hostage for the ransom of King James in 1424; Member of the Privy Council, of Scotland; married Lady Janet, daughter of Sir Alexander Livingston, whose wife was a daughter of Dundas, of Dundas.

15. Gavin Hamilton, fourth son, married Jean Muirhead.

16. John Hamilton, of Orbiston married Jean Hamilton, of Woodhall.

17. Gavin Hamilton, of Orbiston, (1512-1540) married Helen Wallace, of Cairnhill.

18. John Hamilton, of Orbiston, married Margaret Hamilton, of Hoggs; fell at Langsyde.

19. Margary Hamilton, of Orbiston, married David Dundas, of Duddington (See No. 18, page 11.)

The Bruce, of Avondale line, (No.11) carries the line to Kenneth MacAlpine, and the more or less legendary Irish Kings.

"The Dundasses", says Lord Woodhouslie in Transactions of the Royal Society, quoted in Burke's "Commoners" under Dundas, of Amiston, "are descended from a family to which historians and genealogists have assigned an origin of high antiquity and splendour but which has been still more remarkable for producing a series of men eminently distinguished for their public service in the highest offices in Scotland". Burke states further that the Charter granted by Waldgreve, eldest brother of Cospatrick, first Earl of March, in 1109 for the Barony of Dundas is the oldest document of the kind, belonging to any family in Scotland.

1. Crinan, head of one of the most opulent families in the north of England at the end of the Tenth century.

2. Maldred, married Algotha, daughter of Uthred, Lord of Northumberland, , whose wife was a daughter of Aethelread, the Unready.

3. Cospatrick, Earl of Northumberland, in right of his mother, lived in the time of the Conqueror. Disposessed, he fled to Scotland, where Malcolm Commore gave him lands and the Manor of Dunbar, making him first Earl of March. He died in 1139. His name is a corruption of this title--Comes Patricius-- and is often written Gospatrick. The Castle of Dunbar, committed to his keeping by King Malcolm is often called the inner gate to Scotland, , the outer being the fortified city of Berwick.

4. Uthred, second son, obtained the Barony of Dundas in West Lothian from his father's elder brother, Waldgreve or Wald-eve, in 1109.

5. Helias de Dundas, assumed the arms of his grandfather, the first Earl of March, with a "difference" to show cadency.

He died in the reign of William the Lion.

6. Serle de Dundas, often mentioned in Charters in the same reign.

7. Helias de Dundas.

8. Rudolphus de Dundas, named in a charter, temp Alexander III.

9. Saer de Dundas, swore allegiance to Edward in 1296; dead in 1300.

10. Sir Hugh de Dundas, supported William Wallace, and was loyal to him.

11. Sir George de Dundas, loyal supporter of Robert Bruce; fell at Duplin in 1332.

12. James de Dundas, dead before 1364.

13. John de Dundas, got charter for lands and Barony of Frigash from David II in February, 1364

14. James Dundas, of Dundas, on charters often between 1378 and 1403.

15. Sir Archibald Dundas, son of ^afirst wife, whose name is unknown; high in favor with James II, who granted him two more baronies and wrote to him that he intended making him Earl of Forth, but was killed in battle before this further honor was conferred.

16. Sir William Dundas, of Dundas, heir in 1494; married Margaret ^aWenchope, of Widdery.

17. ^aWilliam Dundas of Duddington, second son.

18. David Dundas, of Duddington, second son, married Margaret Hamilton, daughter of John Hamilton, of Orbkston.

19. George Dundas, of Manor, ~~second son, born 1628, married~~ Margaret, daughter of William Livingston of West Inarter.

20. John Dundas, of Manor, married Elizabeth Hamilton, of Kilbrasment.

21. Ralph Dundas, of Manor, married Helen Burnett, whose father was Dr. Thomas Burnett, physician to King William and Queen Anne.

22. John Dundas, of Manor, born Oct. 16, 1701; married Anne Murray, daughter of John Murray of Polnaise; they had Ralph (Gen. Ralph Dundas) James and Thomas. The last two came to America.

23. James Dundas, second son, was born at Manor in Perthshire, in 1734. He came to Philadelphia with his brother, Thomas in 1757 and was first employed in a counting house in that city, but by 1765 was in partnership as Bartram & Dundas. Shortly after that date he was in business alone, selling imported dry goods, among other things. He was a member of the Patriot Association, organized to unearth and bring to justice the Tories who aided the British after the evacuation of Philadelphia in 1778. He signed the Non-Importation Agreement December 25, 1765. He was appointed to fix prices when profiteers were holding stocks of food stuff in the city. On February 23, 1779 he was chosen by the Congress to sign Bills of Credit issued by Congressional order. He married at Christ Church May 11, 1758 to Elizabeth Moore, of Scotland, doubtless affianced before he came to America. She died Aug. 31, 1787, at 47. They are both buried at Christ Church. She was the daughter of James Moore. They had twelve children, of whom only two sons, John and Burnett and four daughters, lived to maturity. James Dundas was paymaster of the people employed at Billingsgate in February, 1778; (this was some sort of Government work connected with the Revolution, as it appears on the Revolutionary records); officer of the Pennsylvania militia; was taxed in the Northern Liberties of Philadelphia in 1769, '79, '82; in 1780 was assessed for an estate of $1,000 and called clerk. He had wide commercial interests, among them a partnership in general merchandising business in Alexandria with a Mr. Hepburn for some years before the Revolution. This Mr. Hepburn was a friend of Colonel Washington, who mentions in his diary, that Mr. Hepburn went home with him from Alexandria, April 26, 1775, and stayed 'till April 28. There was a William Hepburn in Alexandria at that time who was cutting wheat in 1772, and "Mr. Hepburne" is probably the same William, proper names in that day being variously spelled, mostly phonetically and Hepburn was then and still is called "Hebburn" James Dundas brother Thomas was the "Mr. Dundas, of Reading" whose name frequently appears in the records.

24. John 2 Dundas, born in Philadelphia February 28, 1759; died in Alexandria Aug. 30, 1813. He served in the Revolution as Ensign of the Philadelphia militia, commissioned in 1780. He removed to Alexandria, Va. immediately after the Revolution, where he took over his father's interests there. He married Agnes, daughter of Thomas and grand-daughter of William and Agnes Hepburn in 1785, and died in 1820. They had James Hepburn Dundas: Nancy, who married Newton Keene; Sophia, married Thomas West Peyton; Eliza, William Hepburn; John; Thomas and Henry ^{Jameson!} ~~Thomas~~, all living; and the last three under age in 1814, when they appear in the Augusta records (II pg. 18) though the suit was brought in Cabell County, and they were all of Alexandria. John Dundas signed a petition with other merchants in November, 1785; two years later his partner, William Hepburn and F. Peyton signed another; in 1792 Hepburn and Dundas and Francis Peyton signed still another.

John Dundas was one of the really wealthy merchants of Alexandria at a time when it was the market for all that part of Virginia and Maryland. His home was a mansion he built, facing the square where Braddock's troops had been drilled, and where troops of the Revolution, and later wars were later drilled. It was called Castle Thunder, a huge house, long reported haunted. Mrs. Powell remembered sitting on the steps, as a little girl, to watch the Confederate soldiers being drilled. It was torn down just after the civil war. One of his grandsons visited Scotland and was the guest of the Dundases of Amiston and of Manor, and a correspondence was long maintained between the Scotch and American cousins. In 1791 both John Dundas and William Hepburn owned land in Kenawah Co., Va., now Cabell Co., W. Va.

25. Sophia Matilda Dundas, born Feb. 24, 1791 in Alexandria; died after 1864 in Cabell Co. W. Va.; married in the old Presbyterian church in Alexandria Feb. 26, 1811 to Thomas West Peyton I. After his death in 1819, she went to Kenawah Co. (W) Virginia, where one of her brothers was living, and died there after the close of the civil war, leaving all of her estate, which was considerable to a Ditch girl, foster daughter of her daughter, Virginia Peyton Watson. An affidavit, still in the possession of the family, made by Col. Francis Peyton after the death of her husband, , states that property was left to her by her father, John Dundas and by her grandfather, Thomas Hepburn.

HOVEY

1. 1. The first of the name definitely known to belong to this family is Daniel Randall Hovey, probably of the Mass. and Conn. family, but there is nothing to show he ever came to Ohio. The immigrant in this family is Daniel Hovey, to Ipswich, Mass., in 1680. Nothing is known of Daniel Randall Hovey, except his name.

2. Marshall Leander Randall Hovey married Eliza Cox, probably in 1840, or 1851, as their only child was born in Meigs Co., Ohio in 1842, then on the frontier. M.L.R. Hovey died in that year, and his wife shortly afterward.

3. William Marshall Hovey, born in 1842, was reared by neighbors after the death of his parents, while he was still a baby. He enlisted as a private in the Union Army, and was commissioned a second lieutenant on his twenty-first birthday; he was later a Captain. He married Ellen Eliza Thornburg shortly after the war was over. He was a prominent Mason, being at one time Grand Commander of the Knights Templar of W. Va. They had three children, a son who died unmarried, , a daughter Margaret, and

4. Mary Thornburg Hovey, born July 7, 1867, who married Capt. Thomas West Peyton III, Oct. 17, 1890 and died Jan. 3, 1902, leaving four sons: Thomas West IV, a Captain in the world war; Albert Hovey, also a World War Captain; John Thornburg, , under age during the World war, but served as a Private and Non-com during the whole period; and Robert Edwin, now a Captain in the Medical Corps, U.S. ~~Navy~~ ^{Army}. Mary Thornburg Hovey was ^{educated at} Mary Baldwin Seminary at Staunton, Va., where she was an honor graduate, and awarded the gold medal for excellence in music, and also a

SHEPHERD

1. First of the line in ~~V~~America was Thomas Shepherd, said to be of Shropshire, England, who died in Prince George Co., early in 1699, his Will being proved there in April, of that year, and recorded in the First Inventory Book.

2. William Shepherd owned land at the mouth of Antietam Creek, opposite the present town of Shepherdstown, Va. in 1715. On Oct. 12, 1717, he conveyed land to Phillip Gitting, at the head of Beaver, Dam creek, and on the same day received title to land in Prince George Co, called "Shepherd's Purchase", which he sold to James Book in 1721. His wife was Sarah _____ as her name appears on a deed he made in 1739. He died between 1741 and 1745. He had only one brother--John, who left three sons.

3. Thomas Shepherd, founder of Shepherdstown, Va. was born in 1705 and died between March and September, 1776. He married Elizabeth Van Meter and had ten children: David, the eldest, born in 1734. Thomas moved to Pack Horse Ford in 1734, when he was granted 222 acres of land, a part of the Van Meter 40,000 acres. He appears often in the Frederick Co. records thereafter. An Act of the Virginia Assembly in November, 1762, authorizes him "to erect the town of Mechlenburg". During the French and Indian war he laid this land off in small tracts which he sold to the settlers driven in from further west by Indian atrocities, the purchase price to be paid after the war was over, and only a nominal rental till that time. The town that grew up from this settlement was re-named in his honor. All of his sons were prominent in the Revolution. A tract of land across the river in Maryland, called Pell Mell, was willed by John Van Meter to his daughter, Elizabeth Shepherd, this Will also naming her grand-son, Thomas Thornburg. Thomas Shepherd is called Captain in the old records.

4. Sarah Shepherd, born about 1736, second child, died in Shepherdstown Oct. 18, 1780. She married Thomas Thornburg about 1751.

- VAN METER -

1. Jan Jooston von Meteren came to New Amsterdam with his wife, Macyken Hendricksen and five children in the Voz, September 12, 1662, and settled at Wyldwick (now Kingston, N.Y.). He took ~~th~~ the oath of allegiance between Oct. 21 and 26, 1664 and was made a magistrate of Hurley and Marbletown in October, 1673, with Louis du Bois, and two others; took the oath of allegiance to England Sept. 1, 1689; purchased, with others, 500 acres of land at Lazy Point, in East Jersey on the Delaware, twenty miles north-east of Philadelphia Oct. 18, 1693, but returned to Ulster Co., N.Y. before the June the next year, and sold his share in May, 1699. In 1700 he purchased 1800 acres in Somerset Co. East jersey, and died after May, 1706, when he was sponsor in baptism for his great granddaughter, Sarah, child of his grand son, Jan van Meteren. He may have been earlier in New Amsterdam, for one of his name was appointed to help enclose New Dorp in 1661, and it was not unusual for men to come over and investigate, returning later for their families. He was, of course, a farmer, appointed to referee a lawsuit in 1665; first appointed scheppen (magistrate) in 1668; owned many books and purchased others at various sales of estates; was Justice of Marbledorp in March, 1661, when he witnessed a Will. His own Will, made in Marbledorp in Dec. 1681, was proved in Burlington, N.J. June, 1706.

2. Joost Jansen van Meteren, fourth child, and eldest son, was born about 1656 in Guelderland, in Holland. He probably died before his father, as no mention of him appears after 1695. He was one of the children captured by Indians (See article on du Bois). He married Sara du Bois Dec. 12, 1682 at the Pals, at which time his residence is given as Marbledorp, Ulster Co.

3. Jan van Meteren, later known as John Van Meter, was born in October, 1683. He administered his grand father's estate in Burlington in 1706, and then lived at Raritan, N.J., where he married ~~Margaret~~ ^{Sarah Bordine, in 1705. About 1810, he m. 2 Margaret,} whose family name is unknown, and by her had eight children. In June, 1714, he owned a fourth interest in 3000 acres of land in Salem Co., N. J. and later bought more till he and his younger brother, Isaac, owned 6000 acres, together. Among other activities, he was an Indian trader, going as far south as the Cherokee county in Eastern Tennessee and was deeply impressed with the territory in the Valley of Virginia and Maryland. This probably accounts for the fact that he removed to the Maryland side of the Potomac, where he was living, in Frederick Co. in November, 1726, being the date of a grant of land at the mouth of Meteia River, on the Monocacy. In 1730, he ~~was~~ was "of Prince George Co. Md." when he sold some of the Salem, N.J. tract. In June, 1730, he had a grant of 10,000 acres in the Northern neck of Virginia; he later increased his holdings there and his brother Isaac also acquired land there, 'till, together, they owned 40,000 acres. It was in the Valley of Virginia that they sold it to Joost Hite and Robert McKay, of Pennsylvania, and it was known as the Hite Purchase. He made his Will in _____ 1745, naming his daughter Elizabeth Shepherd and his grandson, Thomas Thornbury, either his grand son-in-law or his great grandson. He had given land to his son-in-law, Thomas Shepherd the previous year.

4. Elizabeth Van Meter, born in Somerset, N.J. about 1715, eldest child of a second marriage married in 1733 Thomas Shepherd, then of Maryland. Died in Shepherdstown, Va. 1793.

ENGLISH ROYAL LINE TO ALFRED.

1. Alfred, the Great, of England.
2. Aelfryth, married Baldwin II, of Flanders, called the Bald; died 918.
3. Arnulf, Count of Flanders; he murdered the Duke of Normandy; married one Adela de Vermandois.
4. Baldwin, died before his father; established weaving industry in Flanders.
5. Arnulf, the Younger, succeeded his grand-father; died 989.
6. Baldwin IV called Comley Beard; died 1036
7. Baldwin V. called "of Lille", married Adela, daughter of Herbert II, of France.
8. Matilda, wife of William of Normandy, Conqueror of England. The mother of Baldwin II was Judith, daughter of Charles, the Bald, of France, and step-mother of Alfred. This gives another line to Charlemagne.

CLENDENNIN.

1. Archibald Clendenin, variously spelled, was born in Scotland, and was living in Rockbridge Co., Va. in 1733; died in 1749.

2. Capt. Charles Clendennin, born in Scotland, living in Greenbrier County, prior to 1730; he was Captain in the militia at the Battle of Point Pleasant in Dunmore's war, where two of his sons, George and William, were privates. He died at Fort Clendenin, first building at what is now Charleston, West Virginia, which town his sons laid off, and named in his ~~xxxx~~ ~~xxx~~ honor.

3. Maj. William Clendenin, second son, came with his father and elder brother George to the Kanawah country in 1786. He was severely wounded at the Battle of Point Pleasant, where he was a private; was a lieutenant in the Greenbrier County militia and a Captain in the Augusta County militia during the Revolution; Major in Kanawah Co., ^{in 1789.} ~~1792-93~~; served in the vicinity of Point Pleasant in 1797 and five years later moved again to a place about nine miles from the mouth of the Kanawah River, where he built the first house in what is now Clendenin District. In 1803 he carried to Richmond a petition for the creation of Mason Co. and on its organization the following year was made one of the first Board of Justices and elected to represent the new county in the Assembly. He married Margaret Handl Handley, daughter of John Handley in Greenbrier Co. in 1783, and by her had Elizabeth (8-28-1775), Sophia, (3-27-1787), Charles (7-18-1789), John (11-18-1790) died young, Andrew (6-30-1796) and Anne (7-31-1799). These dates are from an old Bible, once belonging to Charles Clendenin, brought from Scotland, and still in the possession of the family. It gives Williams birth at May 23 1753 and Margaret's at May 10 1752.

MILLER.

1. Ullrich Mueller, immigrant from Zweibrucken, Germany, burgher; came to America with his son, Jacob and his family in 1749.

2. Jacob Mueller, born 1698; landed in Philadelphia Sept. 5, 1749, and was, for a short time, in York Co., Pa. but was in the Shenandoah Valley early in 1752, his first grant being recorded in April of that year. With him came his father, his wife Barbara, and at least seven children, that number being named in his will. He bequeathed much land and books "in English and Dutch". He died in May, 1776. Within ten years after he came to the Valley he had accumulated 2,000 acres of land and the town of ~~Muellerstadt~~ was laid out on it. This town was incorporated in 1761 Woodstock and Jacob Miller was one of the first Trustees as was Burr Harrison.

3. Christian Miller, fourth child, was born in Zweibrucken in 1744; he married Catherine Wiseman, daughter of John Wiseman, in 1771; she was born in 1746 and died 1837. He died in 1838. The family were Dunkards, and therefore, should have been "conscientious objectors": nevertheless, Christian enlisted, was a Sergeant in the militia during the Revolution and drew a pension, the papers saying he acted as a prison guard. At the time of his death, he was the last Revolutionary soldier in the County.

4. John Miller, born May 31, 1781, died March 19, 1836; married to Sophie Clendenin Jan. 26, 1806. He left home in 1795, his father giving him 40 pounds in money to make a start in life, equivalent in purchasing power, to $1,000.00, or nearly that. On his way west, he stopped for a time, at Fort Clendenin but went on to Gallipolis,, Ohio, an old French settlement where only two persons spoke English, so the youngster had to learn French. He already spoke German, of course. He lived there till 1810, when he re-crossed the Ohio and built the first brick house in Mason Co. He had met Sophia Clendenin on his way west when she was a child and he was fourteen, but renewed his acquaintance when her parents moved to the river, and married her when she was grown. After her death in Teay's Valley in 1823 he removed to the vicinity of Point Pleasant, where he bought a large tract of land known as Locust Grove which had been a part of Gen. George Washington's Revolutionary grant. He was a Mason for forty years, a charter member of Morning Dawn Lodge, F & A M. of Gallipolis, Ohio.

5. Margaret Catherine Miller, named for both grandmothers, was born Nov. 25, 1818, and married to Thomas Thornburg Dec. 12, 1837. She died August 19, 1859.

- THORNBURG -

(It is not known from what part of Britain this family derives. They are said to be Welch, but the name is found in England as early as ~~1252~~ 1379, as the name appears early in Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania as Thornbury, it is more likely English. The first so far certainly to be known of this line is::

I. Thomas Thornburg, married about 1751, to Sarah, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Van Meter) Sheperd. This will is on record in Martinsburg, W. Va. , dated July 30, 1787; a codicil make September 11, 1789 and proved October 20, 1789: it names sons Thomas, Hezekiah, Isaiah, and Azariah, and daughters Mercy and Sarah. The codicil leaves an additional L 50 of "my son Thomas Thornburg, Jr's" legacy to Ephraim Thornburg. His will names a grandson Thomas Thornburg, also.

2. Thomas Thornburg was born, according to his tombstone, Sept. 9, 1752 and died May 1793; he was born and is buried in Shepherdstown, Va. He was a Lieutenant under J. Swearingen in the County Militia May 15, 1781 in Berkley Co. militia. His first wife was Ruth _____, married about 1776, by whom he had Ephraim, born Feb. 13, 1778, and Ruth, died in the following month. Ephraim's Bible is owned by H.O. Thornburg, Huntington, W. Va. Thomas married, second, Mrs. Prudence Collirn who survived him many years, keeping an ordinary in Shepherdstown from 1794 to 1801. Her will was made 12-26-1806 and recorded in Charlestown (now W. Va) on Dec. 13, 1808; it names a son, William Collirn; step-son, Ephraim Thornburg; daughters Elizabeth and Prudence; sons, Thomas and Solomon Thornburg, and grand-daughter, Prudence Collirn. Thomas 2 Thornburg's estate was appraised in Berkeley County May 21, 1793. This administrator gave bond for $1,000.00.

3. Solomon Thornburg, born June 17, 1791, died Dec. 30, 1851; married at Shepherdstown Jan. 28, 1813 to Mary Magdalen Staley, Jacob's will being recorded in Book II, Pg 198 in Martinsburg Oct. 28, 1798. She was called Polly, and the name is often written Stalley and Stanley, but the family is believed to be German in origin. Solomon and Polly came to what is now Cabell Co., W. Va., in 1813 and settled on the Halsey Fork of Mud River, where he was a blacksmith and farmer for many years. In Nov. 1832 he purchased the farm at Guyandotte still owned by the family, where he lived for more than twenty years. He represented Cabell Co. in the Virginia Assembly in-----

4. Thomas Thornburg, born Oct. 6, 1818; died Oct. 31, 1897; married Dec. 12, 1837 to Margaret Catherine Miller. He was a successful merchant and substantial citizen, ; a member of the Assembly of Virginia, beginning in 1857, and of the Constitutional Convention of West Virginia in 1872, as well as holding various county offices. His will, recorded in Cabell Co., names three sons and five daughters.

5. Ellen Eliza Thornburg, born 3-12-1842; married Capt. William Marshall Hovey of the Union army before 1867 and died gold medal for her.

DU BOIS.

I. Louis du Bois, son of Chretien du Bois, believed to be of the old family of Astors, but his descent cannot be proven, as the family was of the old religion, and Chretien was a Huguenot. In such cases the name of the "Apostate" was carefully stricken from all the family records. At any rate, no trace of Chretien du Bois' ancestors can be found. His son was born Oct. 28, 1626 and fled to Mannheim, Germany, to escape prosecution before 1655, where he married Catherine Blauchen, daughter of Matthew Blauchenn, a distiller of that city. Two sons were born in Mannheim, and in 1665 they emigrated to New Amsterdam and settled at New Paltz (now Hurley, N.Y.). He was one of the twelve Potentates of New Paltz, signing first; this was the famous Douzine, a self-perpetuating body that administered the affairs of Palz and Hurley for more than a hundred years. In 1663, his wife and children with the wife and three children of Jan Jooston, Van Meteren were taken captive by the Indians, and it was more than three months before they could be located. Finally, the searching party heard a voice singing a hymn. It was Catherine du Bois, who was tied to a stake for burning, her baby Sara in her arms, who had been ordered by her captors to sing a hymn they had heard her sing before, before firing the wood piled all about her. This Psalm was sung for more than a hundred years at all du Bois family gatherings, in memory of her courage and spirit. Louis du Bois was both farmer and trader and a very superior person, always a leader. He was an Officer in the Colonial forces, went against the Indians in ^{1670;} ~~1870;~~ died in Kingston, N.Y. in June, 1679. His father lived near Lille in French Flanders and is believed to be of the family of the Seigneurs of Beaufenny and de Bousse, two old estates at Wicies.

2. Sara du Bois, baptized at Wyldwick Sept.14, 1664 but then nearly two years old, as she was an infant when captured in June, 1663. She married December 12, 1682 Joost Jansen Van Meteren, also one of the captured children.

COUNTS OF VERMANDOIS.

They are descended in direct male line from Charlemagne, as follows:

1. Charlemagne, ~~had~~ by his first wife, Hildegarde, had
2. Pepin IV, King of Lombardy; married the Lady Bertha.
3. Bernard, King of Italy; married Lady Cingarde of Leenn.
4. Pepin V. Lord of Sainte Questin.
5. Herbert I, Count of Vermandois; married Princess Anne, of France; killed in 902, by assassin, in the pay of Baldwin II, of Flanders.
6. Herbert II, Count of Vermandois, increased his territory, captured Charles the Simple, of France, and held him a prisoner for six years. He married his widow, Edgifu, daughter of Edward, the Elder of England.

His successors were Albert I, Herbert III, Albert II and Otto; but some of these were his brothers, and perhaps only one, a son. They were succeeded by his son.

10. Herbert IV. Count of Vermandois, who married Lady Adelaide de Valois and in 1077 received that Countship in right of his wife. He died in 1079, leaving his estates to his only child, Adela, who married Hugh, younger son of Henry I, of France.

ROS OF HAMLAKE.

1. Peter de Ros, first of the name in England, seems to have been one of the foreign knights brought over from Normandy in the time of Henry I to help curb the power of his turbulent Barons. He married Adeline, sister and co-heiress of Walter d'Espece.

2. Robert de Ros married Sybella de Valoines.

3. Everard de Ros married Roysia de Truesbal, of Worter in Holdeness, and died in 1186.

4. Robert de Ros, called Furfau, time of Richard I; obtained the whole Barony of his ancestor, Walter de Espece. He was one of the Barons in Arms against John and a signatory of Magna Charta. He built Hamlake Castle, in York and Welche Castle in Northumberland; he married Isabella, illegitimate daughter of William, the Lion, of Scotland. He died in 1227 and is buried in Temple Church, London.

5. William de Ros, of Hamlake; married Lucy, daughter of Reginald Fitz Piers, of Wales. He died in 1250.

6. Robert de Ros, first Baron de Ros; married Isabella, daughter of William d'Albany (fourth of the name, and title descended from Robert de Todney, who had the Barony d'Aubeni from William I): built Belvoir Castle in Leicestershire; taken prisoner at Lewes.

7. William, second Baron de Ros, had a renewed grant of ~~Welche~~^{Welche} Castle; was summoned to Parliament in 1294 (22 Edw I) and was one of the claimants to the Scottish throne through his great grand-mother Isabella, daughter of William, the Lion. He married Matilda, daughter and co-heiress of John de Vaux, and died in 1316.

8. William, Baron de Ros, married Margaret, sister of Giles, Lord Bradlewes of Leed's Castle. She died in 1363, and he in 1342.

9. Thomas, fifth Baron de Ros; the fourth being his elder brother, who died childless: married Beatrice, daughter of Rolf Stafford, first Earl of Stafford. She died in 1415, and he in 1383.

10. William, seventh Baron de Ros, K.G., Lord Treasurer of England time of Henry IV; married Margaret, daughter of John, Lord Arundel, and died Sept. 1, 1414. She died July 3, 1494.

11. Sir Thomas de Ros, ninth Baron; married Eleanor, daughter of Richard Beau Champ, Earl of Warwick. He died Aug. 18, 1431

12. Thomas, 10th Baron de Ros; married Philippa, daughter of John, Lord Tiptoft. Engaging in one of the frequent uprisings, he was taken by the Lancastrians, beheaded, and his estate confiscated in May, 1464. Then his son, Edmund got back both titles and estates when the Yorkists returned to power in 1485, but died without a son and his estate was divided among his three sisters.

13. Eleanor, eldest daughter of Thomas, tenth Baron de Ros, married Sir Robert Manners.

14. George Manners, made 12th Baron de Ros in 1515, in his mother's right; married Ann, daughter of Sir Thomas St. Leger and his wife, Anne Plantagenet, sister of Edward IV. George Manners died in October, 1513, and his wife in May, 1526.

15. Lady Eleanor married John, second Earl of Bath.

16. Lady Cecilia Bourcier married Rt. Hon. Thomas Peyton,

(of V.)

DUKES OF NORMANDY,

Prepared partly ^{from Hunnes England and partly} from a translation by du du Chaillu, of the Old Horse Sagas.

1 & 2. Rognvold, Maere Jarl, (Earl of Maera), married Hagnhilda daughter of Rholf Nefja; both were descended from Halddan, the Old. They had three sons, of whom the second, Rholf, was called Congu (the Walker) because he was so hugh a man that no horse could carry him, and he went into battle on foot. He visited England in his youth and was a guard at Alfred's Court, where he learned much of his statecraft, , and was perhaps, inspired by the great King. He conquered Vallard (Northern France) in 908 & 909, and in the latter year Charles, the Simple ceded the conquered territory to him as a vassle, making him Duke of Normandy. That is to say "of the Northmen" which was the name given then to all Scandinavians. He was baptized as a Christian in 912 and married Gissela, the king's daughter, the same year. He shines in legand and story as Rollo.

3. William Longsword married the daughter of Hugh, Count of Paris, and Duke of France, whose wife was Haedwig, daughter of Henry, the Fowler, of Germany. He was murdered at the Court of Flanders by order of his Uncle, Count Arnself I.

4. Richard I, called "the fearless" and "the Powerful" married Gunnora, a Danish woman, of Brittainy. She had a sister, Ave lina, from whom, also the Peyton line descends.

5. Richard, the Good.

6. Robert le Diable.

7. William, Conqueror of England, illegitimate son, acknowledged by his father, who forced his Barons to swear allegiance to the child, then seven, as his successor in case he should not return from a pilgrimage to Jerusalem. His mother was Allora, daughter of a tanner of Palaise, whose sons by a marriage contracted after Robert's death, were staunch supporters of William, at Hastings. In his early youth, William proved himself a splendid soldier and a master of statecraft. He married Matilda, daughter of Baldwin V. of Lille, Count of Flanders.

FITZ-WARRINE.

This line belongs to both Peyton and Hubbell.

1. Warrine de Meez; probably an Angevin, many of whom came over in the time of Henry II.

The Peytons

John Peyton, the founder of this branch of the Peyton family in America, came from England, and settled at Aquia, on the Potomac River, in Virginia.

One of his descendants, probably a son, was Col. Francis Peyton who married Sarah West, a daughter of Anthony West, who also came from England, in 1622, and settled in what is now Accomac County, Va.

Col. Francis Peyton and wife Sarah West Peyton had a son Thomas West Peyton, who became a Captain of Militia in the War of 1812. He was born about 1784, and died in 1819. He was in the first vestry of St. Paul's Church, Alexandria, Virginia, in 1801;

Justice, 1814, Captain of Militia, 1812.

Captain Peyton and his family resided for a number of years, in Cuba, but returned to the United States.

March 6, 1811, Captain Thomas West Peyton & I married Sophia Matilda Dundas, sister to John, Thomas, and Henry Thompson Dundas, who with their sister Eliza, were early settlers of Cabell County.

Sophia Matilda Dundas was born, at Humphries, ^W county, Virginia, Feb. ~~5~~¹⁴, 1791, and died, at her home, a short distance below Blue Sulphur Springs, March 13/870. She came as a widow to Cabell County, about 1856, ^{possibly earlier} and settled on the farm, now known as the Edwards farm below Blue Sulphur Springs, on Route 60, then the old Kanawha Turnpike. She had married Thomas West Peyton I, who died 1819.

All the land in the Bend of Mud River below Blue Sulphur was owned by Henry J. and Thomas Dundas. Henry J. Dundas sold all or part of his interest to his sister, (See next sheet)

Barboursville, West Va.

October 27, 1952.

Dear Mr. Dundas:

1. It was William, not John Dirton, who married Mary Virginia Dundas.
2. I sent you the record of William and Mary V. Dirton. They had four children known to live. In Blue Sulphur Church cemetery there is a grave of Charles Dirton, their son, who died when a small boy, and beside it is another grave with no dates, but marked with initials indicating another son, who died at birth.
3. The John Merritt who died in 1855, was ^{not} a relative of yours. He was a brother of George Merritt (I), father of John Merritt, who married the two Dundas sisters.
4. There were two pioneer ~~Dirtons~~ ^{here}--Peter Dirton and William Dirton. Peter married Elizabeth Merritt, daughter of Capt. William and Margaret Merritt. Records give no indication of Peter Dirton's age. He died about 1816; his property was appraised then, but his wife lived about 40 years longer, dying about 1854, exact date not given. William Dirton (I) was a constable in 1814; hence, at least 21 years old. He did not marry until 1832, and there is no record showing he had any children. He may have left here.
5. I do not believe there is a record of the marriage here of your grand-parents, Henry ^I. Dundas and Margaret Dirton (correct spelling), but if my memory is correct they had one, or more children by 1830; hence, she was not a daughter of William Dirton, and I would say that she was most certainly a daughter of Peter Dirton. If she were a sister (and there were two others who married in, or about 1840), they would be so much younger than Peter as to make that highly improbable.

I visited Mrs. Mollie Sanford this morning, and found her sane but with a bad memory, yet cleared up some doubtful points.

Harrison Dirton was undoubtedly an illegitimate son of Elizabeth Dirton, who became insane about 1850; and his old maid daughters, no doubt for this reason wouldn't talk, and, as usual, didn't want their ages known; but records show that William Dirton (I) married Sarah Wintz, in 1832.

As to the two brothers of Edward Turley, I'll write you later. I have struck a new source of records, but will have to have time to trace them.

These records on other Turleys, and your relation, open up a pretty big field, and it will take considerable time.

Basil Turley's wife gave me all their records, and Basil didn't know much, and wouldn't take time to tell me what he did know. He was busy in his store.

I do not know where the Dirtons came from, but feel that if I could visit some other counties, I'd get other records of them.

Only one of Jonathan Turley's children is living, but she is crazy. I'll visit her, but doubt getting anything. I'll write when I get more.

Very truly,

F. B. Lambert

Barboursville, W.Va.

Oct. 20, 1952.

Dear Mr. Dundas:

In reply to your recent letter, the mistake you noted in the record of the child was made by the typist. He wrote 1879. It should have been 1874. The child died in 1876, hence was about 2 years old.

The John Merritt who died at about 80 yrs, &c. was the one who married the two Dundas sisters. I supposed he was buried with his first wife, Margaret, in the old Merritt cemetery, on Mud River, but recently I found his grave and that of his wife Frances, in a small family cemetery, on the back end of "Little" George Merritt's lot, on Center Street, in Barboursville, near the G.V. railroad, a branch of the C & O. which runs to Logan, W. Va. up Guyardotte River. It was near this railroad, about 200-300 feet, back of the "Little" George Merritt home. There are only three graves here. They were

John Merritt

1827--1908

Frances Merritt

D. 1873, at 37

(hence, B. 1836).

Garland Merritt, (whose record I sent you).

The above John Merritt was the father of "Little" George.

Now, you will note that the record, on the graves, does not exactly correspond to the death records at the Court House, but the discrepancy can easily be explained. In my many years searching records, I have found dozens of such errors. The clerks carelessly kept these records, for years, on scraps of paper, and transcribed them later. Sometimes they never recorded them.

Many records after about 1854, were sent to Richmond until 1867. I had a letter a few days ago from the State Librarian there, saying that until these records could be treated, they were not in condition to be photostated. There are some such records, at Charleston.

The John Merritt above married two Dundas sisters. The census of 1850, shows exactly who he was. It is as follows:

Margaret Merritt 86 (wife of William, Sr.).

George Merritt 68 (married Levina Turley)

John Merritt 21

Margaret Merritt 21 (his wife).

Dear Mr. Dundas:

In reply to your recent letter the mistake you noted in the record of the child was made by the typist. He wrote 1879. It should have been 1874. The child died in 1876, hence was about 2 yrs. old.

The John Merrill who died at about 80 yrs. +, was the one who married the two Dundas sisters. I supposed he was buried with his first wife, Margaret, in the old Merrill cemetery, on Mud River, but recently I found his grave and that of his wife Frances, in a small family cemetery, on the back end of "Little" George Merrill's lot, on Center Street, in Barboursville, near the G. V. railroad, a branch of the ~~Guyandotte~~ ^{G. C. & O.} which runs to Logan, W. Va., up Guyandotte river. It is near this railroad, about 200-300 feet, back of the "Little" Merrill's.

here. They were

John Merrill
1827 - 1908

Frances Merrill
d. 1873, at 37
(hence, b. 1836)

Garland Merrill (whose record I sent you.

The above John Merrill was the father of "Little" George.

Now, you will note that the record, on the graves, does not exactly correspond to the death records at the Court House, but the discrepancy can easily be explained. In my many years searching records, I have found dozens of such errors. The clerks carelessly kept these records, for years, on scraps of paper, and transcribed them later. Sometimes they never recorded them.

sending you some notes on one branch of the Turley family that of Joseph Turley. I have so far not been able to do much with the descendants of Jonathan Turley, and little with that of Elijah Turley.

from you on any problems which I can give further help on. I fear I may not be able to give much more, as you told me to leave off the Sedingers and Loves.

I have considerable data on Clay Mc Simis and his descendants.
He married in the Sedinger family, merous and fairly important, as he came from a more distinguished family than the Sedingers. I will, notes which I may discover, and think may be of use to you. I had forgotten -

I will send you ^{another} Peyton family.

Notes

Thomas Peyton, father of Thomas E. Peyton was a brother of Francis W. Peyton, father of "Percy" Peyton and others. I have already sent the family of Francis W. Peyton, and will send that of Thomas Peyton, as soon as I can get some information which I hope to have soon.

A flour and grist mill was built at an early day over the "Great Falls" of Mud River, which are east, or up the river a mile or two from Mud River Baptist Church. John Dundas was the builder of this mill, and its first owner. Later, it was purchased by David Harshbarger, and still later, it passed into the hands of Greenville Harrison, who lived on the north or opposite side of Mud River, from the church.

Thomas Dundas, who was never married, is said to have owned the first buggy that was ever used in this section.

The Turleys

John Turley, son of James and Esther Turley was born July 12, 1785. He m. Palsy — who was born Sept. 27, 1787. This is from a Turley Bible record, now owned by Basil L. Turley of Ona, W. Va. Evidently, John Turley must have married twice, as this record also shows that John Turley's wife was Sarah Turley (maiden name of either wife not available here)

Joseph Turley and Jonathan Turley were brothers. Levina Turley who married George Merrill, was probably a daughter of ^{James} ~~John~~ and Esther ~~Palsy~~ Turley. ~~hence, a half sister of Joseph and Jonathan Turley.~~

Joseph Turley married Anna Maria Dundas, July 7, 1861, dau. of John and Ann Dundas. He was a son of

It has been claimed that the three Dundas sisters married three Turley brothers. Now, this may be true, but records here do not seem to prove the statement. The Bible Records of Basil Turley, definitely show that John Turley who married Sarah — was a son of the Revolutionary soldier, James Turley who married Esther. They also show that Jonathan Turley (No. 1) was a brother of the above John Turley.

This John Turley was born July 12, 1785.

His brother, Jonathan Turley was born Feb. 1, 1793.

Now, Jonathan Turley of a later generation was born Sept. 17, 1825, and married Eliza Ann Dundas, Nov. 16, 1852.

THE DUNDAS BIBLE.

Lucy Dundas had an old Bible, published in 1715. Evidently, this Bible came down through her branch of the Dundas family. Her sister married Napoleon B. Johnston, and she spent the last few years of her life at the Johnston residence; and when she died, they kept it. There are not many records in it, but here is a copy of what is in it:

"Agnes Hepburn was born Aug. 19, 1770, at 1/2 one o'clock, midday, in Cragston Parish of Gavan, two miles from Glasgow, her book, and died the 24th of May, 1820, at five o'clock, in the afternoon, in the Town of Alexandria, District of Columbia.

"Wednesday, the 21st of June, 178 ? (worn out), at seven o'clock James Hepburn Dundas was born in the Town of Alexandria, and State of Virginia".

"Thursday morning, at nine o'clock, being the 14th February, 1788, Nancy Moore Dundas was born, in thr Town of Alexandria".

"Monday morning 10 o'clock the 6th of July, 1789 _____ Dundas was born in the Town of Alexandria".

"Sophia Matilda Dundas born in thr Town of Alexandria, at 4 o'clock, in the morning of the 24th February, 1791".

MISTAKES IN DUNDAS BOOK.

Page 79, Paragraph 2 -- There were earlier settlers here, Thomas Buffington, Jeremiah Ward, &c. The Dundases did not own land to the Big Sandy river, although they owned large boundaries around One, on Mud River.

Last Paragraph--Mud River gets muddy at almost every rain. The early settlers were right.

There is no deed in Cabell County, or anywhere else, so far as I know, showing when the Dundases came to Cabell County, but they were here quite early, for Mud River Baptist church was established not later than 1807, but the first deed to the church was made by Eliza Dundas, and stated in a later deed by John Thomas and Henry T. Dundas, in 1821. This deed stated that the first deed (by Eliza Dundas) was lost. It was for one acre of ground and included the burying ground, still in use, but recently enlarged, but, I believe, privately owned.

There were earlier settlers than the Dundases. The McComases were here as early as 1799, as was also Thomas Buffington, Jeremiah Ward, and William Merritt, who founded the first water mill on Mud River, in 1801.

The first Mud River Baptist church was made of logs. Its people came from all parts of Cabell County, as it was the only Baptist Church here, in that early day.
